

Grand Opera House News for Play Goers

Grace Orr Myers, in "The Fortune Teller," Grand Opera House, Matinee and Night, Nov. 11.

VOGEL'S MINSTRELS.

Reports indicate that this season's offering of John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels, has outlasted any effort previously made by this up-to-date manager, the critics having waxed almost enthusiastic over the production, much stress being laid upon the beauty of the scenery, the gorgeousness of the costumes, and the general excellence of the performers, the olio being made of 20th century acts heretofore unknown in this class of performances. John W. Vogel is reaping a well merited success, the anticipatory interest manifested here forcibly demonstrating the fact that a packed house will greet them on their appearance here in the near future.

"THE ISLE OF SPICE."

"The Isle of Spice," itwch company intact, and with all the scenic, costume, mechanical and electrical effects that went to make the great success of the long run just brought to a close at the Majestic Theatre, New York City, will be seen at the Grand in the near future. Things out of the ordinary are "The Broomstick Witches," "Mercenary Mary Ann," "Peggy Brady," and "The Goo Goo Man," and those who like musical comedy fr its froth, spice, lightness and melody, will be charmed.

THE FORTUNE TELLER

Judging from the sale of seats for the coming engagement of "The Fortune Teller" at the Grand Saturday, Nov. 11, matinee and night, that attraction will play to banner business. The company includes many well known comedians and singers, with a big beauty chorus and the production of scenery and costumes is one of the most elaborate seen in recent years. The excellent reports from other cities where "The Fortune Teller" has been playing has evidently stimulated interest in it here as evidenced by the advance sale.

YOU WILL BE DELIGHTED.

With the Four Huntings and Their Topsy Turvy Comedy Entitled "The Fool House."

The Four Huntings who appear here in the new musical comedy which gains them unsimulated praise in the cities they have played in this season, are a wonderful family cluck full of talent. They sing, dance, tumble and do phenomenal stunts learned during their early training with the circus. Added to this is their exceptional ability as real, genuine actors and character impersonators. They are without doubt the premier acrobatic singing and dancing comedians of the world, and Harry Dull, their manager, has surrounded them with a company of picked players best suited to bring out every available point in their wonderful talents. He has supplied them a comedy with a good, interesting plot, a musical play which would be a success even without the Four Huntings. They are booked to play a few weeks only of one night stands before beginning their large city engagements during which a run in New York and Chicago is anticipated. They will be at the Grand Wednesday, Nov. 15.

THE CAST OF "THE FORTUNE TELLER"

There are three comedians in the production of "The Fortune Teller," which will be seen at the Grand, matinee and night, Saturday, Nov. 11th. Fresco, the allet master, is played by James McElhern, the well known eccentric comedian. Boris, the gypsy, is interpreted by Herman Hirschberg, a Teutonic comedian of the Weber-Fields school. The old Count Berezowski is played by Hugh Cameron, the clever comedian who made a big hit on the Madison Square Roof Garden, New York. The balance of the organization is said to be made up of artists of reputation, headed by Grace Orr Myers in the title role.

STETSON'S "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"

There is no one describing Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which plays the Grand Opera House, matinee and night, Saturday, Nov. 18, than by using the words of the old time circus bannermen. "Stetson's 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' this season is beyond a doubt bigger, better and grander than ever." Handsomely mounted and complete in every detail, presented by a company of recognized artists. Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," like the book, "will go on forever."

"THE MUMMY AND THE HUMMING BIRD."

Jules Murry's own company, presenting "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," and soon to be seen here has been described as virtually an all-star aggregation, the cast including William A. Whitecar in the role of "Lord Lumley," and Henry Carl Lewis as the organ-grinder, being selected entirely from among prominent leading members of the dramatic profession.

"ISLE OF SPICE"

One of the pleasing features in the "Isle of Spice," which comes to this city soon, is the "pony ballet," comprising twelve little English girls who were brought over from London, Eng., by Mr. B. C. Whitney, and who are said to be the cleverest dancers on the American stage today.

FREE TICKETS.

A pass to see the Four Huntings, beautifully designed and artistically gotten up, printed in four colors, is being distributed about the city to advertise the show which plays the Grand next Wednesday, Nov. 15. In one corner of the pass, which contains the pictures of the Four Huntings and their manager, Harry Dull, is the following reading: "Take this ticket (unsigned as a pass) with your seat coupon to the box office after the first act, the price of admission will be refunded to you if you think you are not satisfied with the entertainment."

A NEW YORK SHOW.

The brand new attraction "The Winning Girl," headed by the world famous artists, Charles Ross and Mabel Fenton, will positively appear at the Grand in January. This company is a metropolitan one and comprises seventy-five people. Wheleing and Clarksburg are the only cities in "West Virginia that will be visited by this company.

JUSTICE GORDON BUYS A FARM

Justice Samuel W. Gordon has purchased what was known as the J. R. Adams farm of thirty acres of Mrs. Pew at a handsome figure and intends to move his family to it next spring. The place is at Centre Branch east of the city and is quite desirable. He will have a convenient and comfortable home there. The deal for the farm was closed Saturday.

MILES WILL OPEN NICE DINING ROOM

Madison Miles, better known as Chef Miles, and formerly chef at the Traders hotel, will open a nicely equipped dining and lunch room for ladies and gentlemen in the McDonald building, 308 Pike street. The dining room will be located on the third second floor and there will be several private rooms to accommodate private parties. Mr. Miles has conducted a restaurant at 245 Pike street for some months and has established a very large trade.

All of his old patrons will be assured of the same good service and new patrons are guaranteed satisfaction.
